

RUSSIA DECLARES THAT WAR WITH THE CENTRAL POWERS NOW AT AN END

ALTHOUGH NO FORMAL TREATY
HAS BEEN SIGNED CONFER-ENCE DELEGATES DECLARE THAT THE WAR IS OVER.

FORCES DEMOBILIZED

Movement Fostered by Bolshevik Followers—Troops Will Cease Activities Immediately and Will Be Recalled.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Amsterdam, Feb. 11.—Germany desired peace, but before it can be attained her enemies must recognize that Germany has been a victim of the war.

Amsterdam, Feb. 11.—Russia has declared a state of war to be at an end and has ordered the demobiliza-tion of Russian forces on all fronts,
according to a dispatch received here
today.

The president of the Russian delegation at Sunday's conference sitting, stated that while Russia was desisting from signing a formal peace treaty, it was declaring the state of war to be ended with Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, simultaneously giving orders for complete demobilization of Russian forces on all fronts.

Out of War.
Russia stepped formally out of the war by act of the Bolshevik government which seized the reins of power
in Petrograd last November and almost immediately opened negotiations with the central empire. The authorities of this government seems virtually unquestioned at present in northern Russia and the Teutonic powers have assured the cessation of even nominal
hostilities along virtually all the remaining of the original long line in the west by signing a peace with the Ukrain and isolating Rumania.

Review of Situation.
Although cutting little figure in the war for nearly a year past, Russia's break is indeed a vital part in the conflict and comes forcibly to mind as the circumstances leading up to her exit are reviewed. Becoming a belligerent on Aug. 1, 1914, through Germany's declaration of war upon her troops were soon sweeping through East Prussia, creating a diversion which hampered the Germans in their first dash through Belgium and upon her. Though disastrously defeated by Hindenburg at Tannenberg, he rallied quickly and by the state of war to again at the German border and her great armies overrunning Austrian territory were at the crest of the Carpathians and threatening an invasion of Hungary.

Kept Forces Busy.
It took the bulk of the Austrian army and a large proportion of Germany's virtually an entire year's campaigning in 1915 to break Russia's hold on Galicia, drive her out of Poland, and the lower Baltic territory, and force her armies under Grand Duke Nicholas back to the line, of which Brest-Litovsk, the scene of recent peace negotiations formed the keystone. Beaten back but not yet disorganized, she fought throughout 1916
creating havoc among the Austrian forces in Volhynia and Galicia and in Asia Minor driving the Turks out of virtually Turkish Armenia.

Revolution Came.
The opening of last year, however,
found Russia under the old autocratic regime virtually at the end of her tether. Her oppressed war-worn people were ripe for the revolution, the latent forces of which German propaganda had skillfully fanned, and in March, 1917, came the crash that deposition of Emperor Nicholas and the formation of the first provisional government.

The conservative element among the revolutionists first held sway and the determination of Russia to remain in the war was recently affirmed. Under Kerensky as minister of war her armies in July, 1917, began an offensive.

New Drive Failed.
Russian began an offensive in Volhynia and Galicia which was in the full tide of success under General Kor-nieloff when the fatal disease of disaffection among her troops, which for some time had been manifest, broke out epidemically and stopped the efforts dead.

Merely A Figure.
Since August last Russia has figured
in the great world conflict as a military factor only by reason that she still held a number of German and Austrian troops on her frontier awaiting the force of disorganization within to bring about her final disintegration. This process, struggled against in vain by Kerensky as premier through the summer and early fall of last year, was constantly accelerated by virtue of the divided authority set up at Petrograd.

The End.
The council of soldiers' and workmen's representation, the proletariat
and claiming virtually power systematically antagonized the constitutional government clamoring for the opening of peace negotiation and finally in November last formally took the power it had long in fact exercised.

FALLING ICE KILLS MAN IN MILWAUKEE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Feb. 11.—Percy H.
Gordon, well known accident insurance underwriter, died today as the result of a blow on the head by falling mass of ice in front of the Fabst building. Mr. Gordon had offices in the Fabst building and had just left
the street car on his way to work.
An employee was cleaning ice from the crevices, being lowered on a rope
from the fifth floor, when the manager of the building, said a bystander
who saw the falling ice shouted a warning to Mr.
Gordon, which came too late.

LAYS DOWN RULES FOR PEACE PACT

PRESIDENT WILSON ADDRESSES
CONGRESS IN JOINT SES-SION AND SETS PRIN-CIPLES FOR FORM-ING PEACE.

TAKES A FIRM STAND

Von Hertling's Statements Were Vague and Confusing With Reference to Forming Agreement.

Washington, Feb. 11.—President Wilson, addressing congress in joint session at 12:30 o'clock today, replied
to the recent speeches by German Chancellor Von Hertling and the Austrian foreign Minister Count Czernin.
Chancellor von Hertling's statement
the president said, was vague and confusing and leads to practically no conclusion.

No Desire to Interfere.
It is very different in tone
from Count Czernin which the president said had a very friendly tone. The president reiterated that the United States had no desire to interfere with European affairs and would disdain to take advantage of any internal weakness or disorder to impose her own will upon another people.

All the way through the president
drew a parallel between the pronouncement of Chancellor von Hertling and Foreign Minister Czernin and his hearers drew the conclusion that the president considered Czernin's utterances as being more favorable than Von Hertling's.

Czernin's Statements Clear.
Czernin seems to see the fundamental elements of peace with a clear eye and does not seek to obscure his dependence on Germany." Count Czernin probably would have gone much farther had it not been for the embarrassment of Austrian alliance
and her dependence on Germany."

Approval of President Wilson's address was expressed by many members of both houses who thought it opposite to the essence of a permanent peace.

Senator Lee, democrat, thought it a
"shrewd move to dissolve Germany and Austria."

"I regard the speech as an interpretation of the speech of January 8,"
said Senator Johnson, republican, of California. "I could not have subscribed to all the president's utterances on January 8. I am delighted with most of today's speech and its modification of some of the statements of the president's war aims address."

Without at all criticising any other message I am sure today's expresses more closely American thoughts and American hopes in this war and brings us much nearer to peace.

"The address plainly while spoken
to the house was not addressed to it.
It was addressed to the chancellor of Germany and Austria and others,"
said republican leader, Mann.

ABDUL HAMID DIES AT CONSTANTINOPLE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Amsterdam, Feb. 11.—The death yesterday of Abdul Hamid, former

ABDUL HAMID

Sultan of Turkey, from inflammation
of the lungs is announced in a dispatch received here today from Constantinople via Vienna. A state funeral will be held.

"It will never be used in aggression or for the aggrandizement of any selfish interest of our own. It springs out of freedom and is for the service of freedom."

The president was interrupted by applause at every reference to the United States standing steadfastly against a patched up peace. Probably the greatest applause was when the president declared the militarists of Germany were the only element now preventing a world peace.

When he concluded after speaking twenty minutes the entire audience
as usual arose and cheered.

AUSTRALIANS RAID GERMAN POSITIONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Feb. 11.—A successful raid
was carried out last night by Australian troops against German positions southeast of Messines, says today's official report. "In addition to other casualties inflicted on the enemy 28
prisoners were captured."

HARRY LIVENN IS REPORTED AMONG THE RESCUED OF TUSCANIA; IS IN IRELAND

Mrs. B. H. Louthain of 108 East Milwaukee street received word this morning that her brother Harry Livenn, who is a member of the 158th Aero squadron is safe in Ireland. He was on the Tuscania. Harry Livenn is well known in Janesville as was often a visitor here. He enlisted in the 158th Aero squadron last November and since then has been in training in this country. The notice of his rescue was received this morning by telegram from the war department.

UKRAINIANS SIGN PEACE WITH HUNS

TREATY WITH GERMANY, AUS-TRIA, BULGARIA AND TURKEY
IS SIGNED AFTER LONG NEGOTIATIONS.

ACTIVITIES ARE HALTED

Agree to Live in Peace and Friendship—All Occupied Territory
Will Be Evacuated.

New Amsterdam, Feb. 11.—A dispatch from Brest Litovsk giving the details of the conference at which the peace treaty between the Central Powers and the new Ukraine republic has been received.

"It was possible to announce at the beginning of the last pause in the negotiations that the basis for one conclusion of peace between the central powers and Ukrainian peoples' Republic has been found. After the return of the delegation to Brest Litovsk, negotiations on this basis were continued. Thanks to the spirit of condition inspiring all parties agreement on all points was established so that the final drafting of the treaties and their signatures could be carried out. Owing to the technical difficulties with the five treaty texts it was not possible to hold a formal sitting and affix signatures until in the early hours of Saturday.

After addresses by Richard Von Kuehlman, German foreign minister,
as president, and the president of the Ukrainian people's republic, Dr. V.
Kushman signed a copy of the treaty prepared for Germany. The treaty is entitled: "A Treaty between Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey on the one hand and the Ukrainian people republic on the other." An agreement is declared to have been reached on the following points:

"Article 1. Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey on the one hand and the Ukrainian people republic on the other declared that state war between them will exist which the contracting parties are resolved henceforth to live in peace and friendship with one and other.

"Article 2. Between Austria-Hungary on the one hand and Ukrain republic on the other hand as far as the two countries border on each other those frontiers will exist which before the outbreak of the present war. Further north the frontier of the republic beginning at Tarnograd will in general follow
the line of the railway to Krasnobryn, Krasnostau, Puzmasz, Radzyn, Mes-
hitzschitz, Sarnelk, Wysekolitovsk, Knielitschitz, Prusany and to Krasnobryn. The line will be fixed in detail by a fixed commission according to esohographical condition and with regard to the desires of the populace of the territory and transfer of public have common frontier
with another power of the quadruple alliance special agreement will be made thereon.

"The evacuation of occupied territory will begin immediately after the ratification of the present treaty. The manner of carrying out the evacuation and transfer of the evacuated territory will be determined by the plenipotentiaries of the interested parties.

"Article 3. The diplomatic and consulate relation between the contracting parties will be entered upon immediately after the ratification of the peace treaty.

"Article 4. The contracting parties mutually renounce the reimbursement
of their war cost, that is to say the state expenditure for carrying on the war as well as indemnification for damages, that is to say those damages suffered by them and their subjects
in the war as through military measures including all requisitions made in
the war.

"Article 5. The respective prisoners of war will be permitted to return home or if they do not desire with the approval of the state concerned
they may be transferred to a separate country. The regulation of the question connected herewith will follow by means of separate treaties provided for in article 8.

"Article 6. The contracting party undertakes mutually and without delay to enter into economic relation and organize an exchange for goods on the basis of the following prescriptions:

"Article 7. The agreement made in this peace treaty from an indivisible whole. The conditions of the peace treaty provides: "The present peace treaty will be ratified. Ratified documents shall be exchanged as soon as possible. So far as there is no provision to the contrary the peace treaty
shall come into force on ratification."

The supplementary treaties provided for in article eight also were signed they cover the following points:

Restoration of chancellor relations.
Restoration of state treaties.
Restoration of civil law.
Indemnification for civil damages caused by laws of war or by acts contrary to international law.
Exchange of war prisoners and in-
turned civilians.
Case of hostile ground of those fallen
in enemy territory.
Provision for the return to their homes of persons affected by the treaty.
Treatment of merchant vessel in enemy hands.

CASUALTY LIST OF ENGLISH INCREASES

London, Feb. 11.—British casualties reported in the last week are 7077
divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, officers 75, men 1380 wounded
or missing, officers 155, men 5483.
This total is only slightly in excess of last week figures which amounted to 6254 reaching the low mark for several months.

MERIT SYSTEM FOR JOLIET PRISONERS PLANNED BY WARDEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Springfield, Feb. 11.—A plan whereby prisoners at Joliet penitentiary, by gaining merit, may be promoted in a cottage outside the walls,
is announced by John E. Whitman, state superintendent of prisons. He believes that many inmates of penal institutions are capable of reclamation.

The plan, as outlined tentatively by Mr. Whitman, will make it possible for the man who finds himself behind prison bars to benefit by application to his task and by showing himself trustworthy.

No radical change is contemplated,
it is announced, while the present
prison equipment is in use, the idea being to inaugurate the scheme when the new Joliet plant, located on a 2,000 acre tract near the old, is ready for occupancy. Progress is now being made in the plan, and the completion of the new institution.

In the life of every prisoner four stages will be possible, under the contemplated plan, as follows:
First, Confinement in a cell and without privileges.

Second, Confinement in a cell but with certain privileges earned by good conduct.

Third, Residence in a cottage outside the prison walls with supervision lessened.

Fourth, Residence on the prison
farm with larger liberties and greater freedom.

It is hoped to rearrange the present
Illinois system of parole so that every person who seeks to be paroled shall have demonstrated his title to such action before a petition will be acceptable.

"When a prisoner goes in, under the new plan, he will be placed in one of the four stages," said Mr.
Whitman. "Unless he shows qualities of an inmate to more freedom often he will remain there. If, however, he shows evidence of a desire to do right, fulfill his duty as it is indicated to him and better his condition, he will be aided in every way by the authorities."

It is intended to make a careful study of every man entering the prison. His record will be at hand in addition he will be given a physical examination. A psychologist will observe his mental qualities, his tendencies and his weaknesses. He will be allowed to state his preferences as to employment, and tasks adapted to his abilities. The central powers will in short there will be a systematic effort to learn everything possible
about every inmate of the institution.

From the study of the inmate's record, it will be made as to the basis of merit, and it will not be impossible, Mr. Whitman stated, for bad conduct to cause demotion.

For several years prisoners have been working on the prison farm with little restraint and few safeguards against escape. Under the scheme contemplated, according to Mr. Whitman, there will be less likelihood of desertion, because the men reaching this stage will have been carefully tested as to their reliability and worthiness.

One of the ideas of housing trusted prisoners is new in Illinois. It is planned to build the cottages substantially and to have from a dozen to twenty inmates in each. Mr. Whitman hopes thus to teach the art of living together and observing the ethics of society. The grounds will be policed as far as the streets of any village, but whether there is to be a system of self government in the village has not been determined. All in the village will be assigned to some sort of work as usual.

AIRPLANE IS DRIVEN IN PATH OF FLAMES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, Feb. 11.—How an aviator feels when he drives an airplane
through a flaming observation balloon is described by Giovanni Ancillotto, an Italian aviator, who demolished an Austrian balloon in that fashion in an air conflict at Rustine.

The balloon was guarded by three Austrian observers, but when they were engaged by three Italian fighting machines while Ancillotto dived straight at the balloon, at which he opened fire with incendiary bullets at a range of about 1,000 yards, he was suddenly and suddenly realized the danger he was in, for it was clearly impossible for him to avoid collision
with the flaming balloon.

"I thought myself in mortal
death," he says in his report. "I closed my eyes and waited. Barely a second passed before I felt a shock;
there was a sound of tearing, flames rushed across my face. I opened my eyes and found myself a few dozen yards from the ground."

I started my engines, steadied the machine, glanced at the clock and found that their support would fall me. They were trembling as though broken and were carrying some tattered pieces of stuffs but they held the propellers turned, and the airplane gradually gaining speed, glided toward the Italian lines. A few minutes later I alighted at my camp."

Examination of the machine showed that it had passed clean through the burning balloon. In the shock of collision the wings had actually been broken, but the pilot, but were aid
together by the support of the machine gun.

SERVICE SECTION IS CREATED BY M'ADOO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Feb. 11.—Director General McAdoo today took over the immission on car service of the American Railway association and created a car service section of the railroad administration's division of transportation. W. C. Kendall was made manager.

At the same time the director general appointed an inter-regional traffic committee to study diversify traffic from the more seriously congested gateways to the more open ports.

HUNS HOLD UPPER HAND IN RUMANIA

TIME LIMIT OF GERMAN UTIL-IZATION HAS EXPIRED—
RUMANIAN LANDS FALL INTO HANDS OF THE GERMAN FORCES.

U. S. TROOPS ACTIVE

American Forces Are Reported to Be Engaged in Artillery Duels on the West Front.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
While engaging in the daily increasing military activity in Belgium,
France and Italy, the central powers are pushing their diplomatic advantages in the smaller enemies' countries with the view of—It is believed
—of forcing the Russian government
to accept a separate peace.

Separate Peace.
The new Ukrainian People's Republic, which the Bolshevik leaders of Petrograd refuse to do not exist, has made a peace agreement with the central powers, which in the meantime holds the threat of military power over Rumania to force a similar pact with that country.

Given Four Days.
On February 6, Field Marshal Von Mackensen is reported in German newspapers to have given the Rumanian government four days to make peace with Germany. This time limit has expired, the Rumanian cabinet has reigned as a consequence of the ultimatum, and German forces are reported to have entered the oil wells of Rumania which the British damaged just previous to the Rumanian retreat.

Give Privileges.
The new Ukrainian republic, according to a Stockholm report, is said to have granted the central powers full facilities for the development of important mineral lands in return for a large loan, and the addition to her territory of a large part of eastern Galicia. On this agreement, as well as on the general subject of a separate peace between the Ukrainians
and the central powers, the Bolshevik government is silent, having received nothing from the Russian capital to explain the Ukrainian situation.

Americans Fighting.
In France where the American forces recently have engaged the enemy in minor encounters, the violence of artillery action is daily increasing. On both sides of the Meuse and in the Vosges the French and Germans are engaged in an artillery duel,
while frequent enemy raids on French positions are reported, the most recent in the region of Bourmouilles having failed.

Fought to End.
Details of the encounter of Friday night with the superior German force in the region of St. Mihiel, show that every American fought desperately to overcome the large force of the enemy. Suddenly coming upon the Germans in "No Man's Land," the little party of fourteen Americans quickly changed formation and in the minute
and a half that followed before the enemy retreated, the rifles were way
to hand grenades and automatics, so close were the combatants. On Saturday an American artilleryman was killed by shell fire and five others wounded. These casualties, which light indicate that the American forces in the trenches have assumed their full share of the burden in their sector under their control.

On Other Fronts.

WHERE IS TARTAR CHIEF AND BAND?

What has become of the last of Russia's Tartar warriors? The answer is to be found in no dispatches received since Russia's brief, victorious drive in Galicia when Kerensky ruled. Colonel Gatsky was fame in that drive with his band of Tartars. He was chief of staff for

FIRST PHOTO TO REACH U. S. OF TROTZKY AND HIS RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIKI

The cross marks Leon Trotsky sitting among his cohorts who overturned the government of Russia.
This remarkable photo is the first authentic, comprehensive photograph of Trotsky and his followers to reach the United States since the Bolshevik took over the Russian government. Leon Trotsky (crossed) sits among the factory workers' delegation. They are skilled workers and because of his leading, is a leader of a huge army of workers. Upon these men—and women, for half a dozen women are seen in the photo—these men concluded the peace.

THOS. WARDALL WAS RESIDENT OF THIS CITY FOR 13 YEARS

Man Who Died in Seattle Recently at Age of 103 Lived in Monterey Many Years Ago.

Thomas Wardall, who died in Seattle, Washington, recently at the age of 103 years after living a life of things complete with things adventurous, was for thirteen years a resident of Rock City, near Janesville, which is now known as Monterey, and it was while a resident here that he was chosen as the first county superintendent of schools, the only political office he ever held, says the Chicago Tribune, in speaking of this man whose life stretched through more than a century—the most wonderful century in the history of mankind.

Born in Theddlethorpe, Lincolnshire, England, August 9, 1815, Mr. Wardall, seventh in a family of thirteen children, came to America when he was twelve years old, the family then settling in Cincinnati, O., then a western frontier city of 7,000 population. Here Mr. Wardall attended school, taking a course in engineering at the Mechanics Institute, one of the faculty of which was Robert B. Lee, who later became the great Confederate general of the Civil War. Leaving school, Mr. Wardall did much engineering work along the line of canal construction, and in 1839-40 visited at the home of a home in England at returning to America, he was seized with the spirit of the pioneer and settled in Indiana, then moving to Rock City, now Monterey.

In 1854 Mr. Wardall, then almost 40 years of age, removed to Springfield, Ill., where he became acquainted with Abraham Lincoln, then just beginning to attract the notice of his contemporaries. The spirit of the pioneer was still dominant, however, and after a year in Springfield, Mr. Wardall again traveled westward, this time settling at Mitchell, Ia., where he acquired 1,500 acres of land.

This Iowa farm was his home for more than forty years. In 1900, then 85 years of age, he decided to retire from active farm life and went to California, where he resided for a number of years until his death in 1917. The spirit of the pioneer was still dominant, however, and after a year in Springfield, Mr. Wardall again traveled westward, this time settling at Mitchell, Ia., where he acquired 1,500 acres of land.

The years rested lightly upon him. He afflicted himself with the Boreas, a cold, and died at the age of 103. The years rested lightly upon him. He afflicted himself with the Boreas, a cold, and died at the age of 103.

Bishop Remington is rector of St. Paul's church of Minneapolis and is one of the most widely known religious men in the northwest. He is now serving as chaplain of the hospital unit at Fort McPherson, Ga.

DECISIONS REVERSED IN VERY FEW CASES

CLASSIFICATIONS OF REGISTRANTS MARRED SINCE MAY 18 MADE BY LOCAL BOARD ARE UPHOLD BY DISTRICT BOARD.

ALL APPEALS DECIDED

Work of Acting on Appeals Completed Saturday—District Board Expects to Finish Up All Other Work by Wednesday.

All cases of registrants married since May 18, who appealed the decisions of the local board to the district board at Madison have been settled, according to information received from the district board. Although a few of the decisions of the local board were reversed, the greatest majority will remain the same, the district board having decided that the appeals were not based on substantial grounds.

Subject to Change. The attention of the local board is called to the fact that all cases were decided on appeal only on the information contained in the questionnaire, and that if sufficient evidence outside of that in the questionnaire can be obtained by the local board that those decisions that were reversed may again be changed and the registrants held subject to immediate military service. It is the desire of the district board to uphold the local board's decisions in all possible cases and for this reason it is still possible to change decisions of the district board.

Three Points. In acting on the appeals of those men married since May 18, the district board was guided by three points: (1) When the local board had no information outside of that in the questionnaire can be obtained by the local board that those decisions that were reversed may again be changed and the registrants held subject to immediate military service. It is the desire of the district board to uphold the local board's decisions in all possible cases and for this reason it is still possible to change decisions of the district board.

Finishing Work Wednesday. Although none of the questionnaires of these registrants have been returned to the local board, it is expected that they will arrive tomorrow and cards will be sent out notifying the registrants of their classification. The district board at Madison expects to complete all of its work by Wednesday, and the local board is expected to finish up all of its work by Wednesday.

Board Commended. In the communication received this morning the local board was commended for its work in the classification and the fact that the board for Dist. No. 1 of Wisconsin is far ahead of any other district was attributed to the cooperation of local boards.

Teachers Volunteer. Eighteen teachers in the public schools of the city were busy all day today assisting the local board in its work, having patriotically volunteered their aid. The compiling of occupational data of registrants onto cards, which will be forwarded to Madison, was taken up and will proceed for the next few days. With this information, when there is need of any special class of workmen, the authorities will be able to call them on short notice.

The following fifty registrants have been ordered to report for physical examinations on Thursday:

PENALTIES FOLLOW FAILURE OF ALIEN ENEMIES TO REPORT

Warning is Given to All Alien Enemies Who Have Not as yet Registered.

Attention has been called by the registering authorities in this city, to the penalties which follow the failure of alien enemies to register with the chief of police, during the time of registration set aside by the department of justice. Information has been reached the office of the chief of police, that a number of alien enemies living on the rural routes of Janesville as well as in the outskirts of the city, have failed to report to sign the blanks which are required by law.

As the time of registration has been extended until Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock, the registering authorities have given the warning that all must report, or suffer the penalties prescribed by law. It is known that some failed to appear, although they knew that the law compelled them to register.

The office of the chief of police will be open daily from 8 a. m. until 8 p. m., on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, of this week, and at the conclusion of that time the registration will be completed, and those who have failed to register will immediately be put under the ban of the law.

The law, in regard to failure to register, is as follows: "An alien enemy, registered or not, who fails to complete his registration within the time fixed therefor, or who violates or attempts to violate, or of whom there is a reasonable ground to believe that he is about to violate any regulation duly promulgated by the President of the United States or these regulations, in addition to other penalties prescribed by law, is liable to arrest, imprisonment, and detention for the duration of the war, or to give security, or to remove and depart from the United States, in a manner prescribed by section 4067, 4068 and 4070 of the United States Revised Statutes, and to all other penalties prescribed by the proclamation of the President of the United States and in the regulations duly promulgated by or under the authority of the president."

BEGIN COUNTY-WIDE DRIVE FOR JUNIOR RED CROSS MEMBERS

Campaign to Enroll School Children of Rock County Will Begin Tomorrow and Continue for Ten Days.

Plans for the enrollment as members of the American Red Cross of every school child in Rock county are being formulated and the drive will begin tomorrow. Supt. Faust, as chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign, today notified the teachers of the county of all schools of the county. A stirring appeal calling them to the colors prepared by Mary C. C. Brown, president of the national education association, was also sent.

The campaign will open February 12th, Lincoln's birthday, and will continue until February 22, the day of the birth of the Red Cross. The teachers plan to push the work and secure the largest possible number of members for the Junior Red Cross. Although the local public schools are closed now, the drive will begin in other schools throughout the county tomorrow and will be taken up in local schools when they open. Edwin G. Jooles, of the central division headquarters at Chicago, is director of this Junior Membership drive.

CO. "C" BOYS WILL LEAVE FOR FRANCE ON MAY FIFTEENTH

Eighty-sixth Division at Camp Grant of Which Rock County Boys Are Members, Will Leave for Overseas Service Soon.

Rock county boys who are members of Company C of the 86th Machine Gun Battalion down at Camp Grant will depart for France May 15. Information just received by the Illinois adjutant general from Washington. That the entire 86th Division commanded by Major General Barry will leave on that date every week after the conferences which he has had with the War Department upon his recent arrival from the western battle front. Immediately necessary for the transportation as soon as possible of as many trained American troops as can be marshaled was accentuated at these conferences and to that end preparations for the movement of the 86th Division was speeded up.

The adjutant general's office in Springfield has been advised that the complement of one expected quota of 5,000 selected men has been advanced from Feb. 23 to Feb. 15. The complaint that this army will help to complete the fighting strength of the division has been satisfied by an arrangement whereby the provost marshal's office at Washington will see to it that every week after Feb. 15 men will be sent from Chicago, northern Illinois and the southern part of Wisconsin until the division shall attain its full fighting quota of 27,162 men.

This is in accord with the recent movement order issued from headquarters at Camp Grant which calls for the mobilization of every week to familiarize the soldiers with "get-away" practice.

THRIFT STAMP SALE DAILY PROGRESSING

Local Women and County Boys are Doing Splendid Work Pushing The Sale.

Sale of the thrift stamps for the first nine days in February in the city which is now on is exceeding all the expectations of the men and women in charge according to Postmaster J. J. Cunningham who said that $25,000 of thrift stamps have been sold. Many women who have been assisting in the drive by selling thrift stamps in the postoffice and various drug stores in the city are of great help to the postmaster in this drive as without their patriotic service very little could be accomplished.

For the two months in which the sale of these stamps was being pushed, the sale has been exceeding all the expectations of the men and women in charge according to Postmaster J. J. Cunningham who said that $25,000 of thrift stamps have been sold. Many women who have been assisting in the drive by selling thrift stamps in the postoffice and various drug stores in the city are of great help to the postmaster in this drive as without their patriotic service very little could be accomplished.

W. B. Senty, the county Y. M. C. A. agent, expressed his satisfaction that the boys in the county are taking hold of the thrift stamp sale and the big strides they are taking considering the size of the boys. He also stated that nearly one thousand dollars of thrift stamps have been sold by the boys of the county, and that one team of boys is making a record for itself, but he refused to divulge the names of the boys on the team.

WILL LIMIT FARMERS IN OBTAINING SUGAR

The Rock County Sugar Company received a communication from the United States food commission recently relative to the obtaining of sugar by the farmers in raising sugar beets and outlining the rules by which they will be allowed to secure sugar.

The letter states "that farmers engaged in the production of sugar beets will be allowed a limited amount of sugar next season, but that speculating or hoarding on the part of the farmers will be absolutely forbidden and that any disregard of this rule will receive strict attention."

Twenty Years Ago Kaiser Rode Into Jerusalem As Peace Lord; Today---

Time works wonderful changes. Twenty years ago, one Wilhelm Hohenzollern, Kaiser, was posing before the world as a peace lord. Can one imagine anything more fantastic than one picture in the War Lord of this day—the super-Hun—holding a charger in check and riding it majestically through the streets of the Holy City as a monarch of peace on earth?

The old photograph herewith is the proof that it was done. The Kaiser was touring through Palestine. The city of Jerusalem planned an elaborate fête, a pageant in which Wilhelm was to have a place of honor. He approached the Holy City by way of Jericho—the same route over which General Allenby's victorious "Tommy" recently approached it. He rode on horseback. The arrow in the photo points to the spiked helmet which today is the world's crown of thorns. And flowing down from the Imperial eagle on the helmet are the white robes of Arabia—his peace vestments. Behind him walk the standard bearers. The enclosure of the wall of the sacred city through which the Kaiser is shown about to enter, is the same through which General Allenby and his staff recently made triumphant entry after the Turks, the allies of the erstwhile fawning Peace Lord in his world butchery, had surrendered. And some of the young natives who cheered the "Peace Lord" on that day twenty years ago, were at that gate again to cheer

Allenby's advent meant the end of the hunger and privation these men, grown old now, had sought for days and days while the city was under siege. The photographs below are more familiar of William Hohenzollern. One shows him with Hindenburg, prince of "mass murderers," as Trotsky would term him. It was taken in the field on the western front—the front which limits the ability of the "Peace Lord" to carry on the rape of the countryside as it was so well started in Belgium. The other shows the Kaiser and Mackensen. It was taken on the eastern front—the front which marks the end of the wrecking of Poland, Rumania and the little countries

REV. EWING TELLS WHAT THE ENTIRE WORLD NEEDS TODAY

World Needs the Power Coming from God, Says Rev. Ewing in Powerful Sermon at Baptist Church.

A large audience gathered in the Baptist church on yesterday morning to take part in a union service, in which members from the Baptist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches participated. An inspiring sermon, preached by Rev. Ewing, layed out for its hearers "What the World Needs." The text was taken from 6th chapter of Luke, 19th verse—"Power came from Him, and healed them all."

The statement was made by the speaker "that what the whole world needs today is the power coming from God." "The world needs divine power, manifested through human agencies. People have been groping for it through the ages, although when Jesus came they were seeking mostly for help for bodily needs. Anyone, said the speaker, who professes to cure disease, or relieve pain, has a following even in these days. And although a physician discovers the way of opening channels within the body, yet the life of each finite being depends on infinite power.

The fact was discussed that wherever religion has gone, the ministry of healing has gone also. The missionaries in foreign lands is attended by doctors, hospitals and nurses. They also introduced the arts of prevention of diseases, and helped to secure physical stamina. Jesus the people were hungry and he fed them. So at the present time, where the Christian goes, hunger and disease are being relieved. In every country ravaged by famine the missionary organizes relief measures. "In all these cases," affirmed the speaker, "Christ has touched the hearts of people, and given divine power, through human agencies."

The thought was emphasized that in these days there comes a new call to face with new needs, which seem sometimes to be overwhelming. And it is then, said the speaker, we find new knowledge in God's wisdom applied to our individual needs. "If we open ourselves to God, we feel the great I Can," was the way the thought was expressed. "This power is waiting to solve the problems of the world, not only our little individual difficulties, but the great problems of world nations," was also affirmed by the speaker.

"Now that the world is at war, all humanity is faced by tremendous problems of serious nature—social, financial, economical and political. The fabric of human civilization was the fabric of the commands of a master, we should not only have enough religion to solve our own problems as a nation, but others," was plus of energy to aid others," was also a statement made. "When the divine power touches men, and gives them a new baptism of Divine Grace, then there will be the dawn of a new day on the earth." In local affairs the speaker predicted that Janesville could not be made honorable in a business, political and social way until individuals were regenerated.

The address closed with a plea for "all who bear the name of Christ to be true to his teaching," and throw themselves open to the influence of the divine energy coming to all from Him." Rev. J. A. Melrose gave the prayer and led in the responsive reading, while Rev. Pierson read the scripture lesson. Especially fine music was given by members from the choir of the three churches represented. They were about 25 in number and were led by Prof. Taylor. The first anthem was "Praise Ye the Lord," by Gounod, the other anthem, "My Faith Looks up to Thee," by Schaeffer. In the latter, a solo part was sung by Miss McCulloch and another by Miss Ada Lewis, a beautiful violin obligato being played by Rollo Dobson. These different congregations are showing a fine spirit of mutual helpfulness and co-operation by these union services. On the meetings of yesterday, ushers from the different churches assisted in the duty, and helped to make the moment from the different organizations feel at home.

The church was also used for the different Sunday schools of the three churches, and will also be used in the same way on next Sunday. On last evening a union service—one of the series in the Christian church with Rev. R. G. Pierson as speaker, and at the United Brethren church Rev. C. E. Ewing was the speaker.

Evansville News

Evansville, Feb. 11.—Quite early Saturday morning Josiah Carpenter met with a very painful accident while at his work at the D. E. Wood Butcher Co.'s plant. He was loading the elevator with barrels of butter to be taken to the top floor of the creamery and had started on his journey upward with them, when, between the second and third floors, the cable broke precipitating the elevator to the basement below. Mr. Carpenter was at once taken to his home on East Main street and a physician summoned. As a natural consequence he received several shaking up but no bones were found to be broken; and it is hoped that no internal injuries were received. But for a man of Mr. Carpenter's years the injury he has received will confine him to his home for some time.

Basketball Game Saturday.
Saturday afternoon our high school basketball team met the Beloit team here on our home floor and defeated them badly for when time was called Evansville's score was 38 to Beloit's 7. The high school team will feel proud of this season's team for both games played this year they have defeated their opponents with a high score.

Personals.
Evansville friends extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eastman on the safe arrival of a son, born Feb. 9, 1918. Dr. E. E. Colony will be in Janesville tomorrow where he is one of the examining physicians at the post office for the young men called in this draft.

The Misses Lucy Langemak, Olive Robinson and Lucille Miller were home from Appleton where they are attending Lawrence college, for the week end.

Miss Ethel Hubbard was a Madison visitor Saturday.

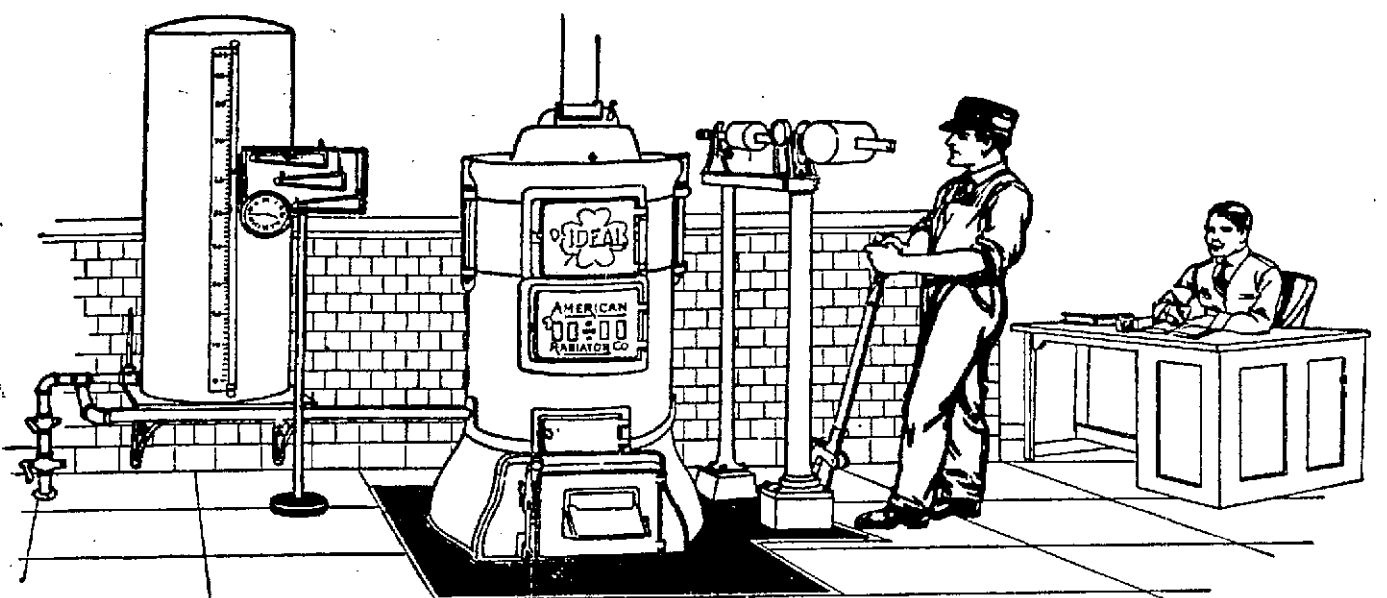

Miss Nina Worthington of Cainville was a shopper here on Saturday.

Miss Battle Jacobson of Orlinville was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Benson several days last week.

Fred Brunell was a Madison business visitor on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Buckridge of Beloit were the recent guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brunell.

Why IDEAL Boilers cut fuel bills

The IDEAL Hot Water Boiler here shown is on a floor-level weighing platform. The Boiler is weighed empty, then with its full charge of fuel, and finally the ashes are weighed separately. Meanwhile the total heat produced or transmitted by the burned fuel to the water and circulated to warm the rooms is recorded absolutely, by means of Government standard thermometers, gauges, electric recording charts, etc. All facts are exactly computed.

In our Institute of Thermal Research tests of the heating efficiency and economy of the IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are made by scientific men and fuel engineers, impartially and according to the most authoritative instruments and methods. All is proved—nothing is left to old-time guesswork. The elaborate fuel-economy proofs furnished with each size and type of IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit are the most complete and convincing reasons why

more are in use than of all other makes

The installation of an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit means starting with units of known, dependable value and fuel-saving. The engineers of big buildings throughout the world use the data we publish and specify these outfits. If every houseowner (thousands of whom have greater need to economize) would ask for these full facts of efficient heating, no one could afford longer putting off the purchase of IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators.

AMERICAN & IDEAL RADIATORS & BOILERS

These outfits guarantee you a lifetime of lowest heating cost. Ask your dealer today!

It is of the greatest importance that you should specify IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators for your new or old building because now more than ever it is necessary to practice the most rigid fuel economy. Furthermore, IDEAL Boilers burn the cheaper grades of hard and soft coal, screenings, pea coal, lignite, coke, wood, gas, oil, etc.—thus offering you this means of saving.

IDEAL heating gives new life and value to OLD buildings

Act now and save enough in fuel, absence of repairs, doctor-bills, reduced care-taking and household cleaning to quickly repay cost. Easily put into old or new cottages, farm houses, flats, schools, churches, stores, public buildings, etc., without disturbing old heaters until ready to build fire in the new. ## VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor: Mr. Hal Albee Helfenberg under date of Feb. 10, 1918.
I am writing you in great haste, the article previously published and signed "A Taxpayer" and I assure you that I am with Hal, who believes that each taxpayer should have a representative in the city council. He is right and the principle of taxing a man for the upkeep of the city without his having a personal representative on the council to see that his interests are conserved is ridiculous.

Under the old form of city government we had but one alderman to the ward, so we were taxed without representation. Now is the time for the voters to correct all of these evils and create a council that is representative, or in other words an alderman for each ward, whether he live in a castle or in a C. & N. W. freight car, designated by some of the petitioners as their place of residence, he should be represented in the council.

Taxation without representation is all wrong, and as it does not cost anything to hold an election let us all start together and vote for a personal representative for each voter in the next council.

As I cannot qualify as a taxpayer, I will sign simply as

A VOTER.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Feb. 9.—The train service was again demoralized by the storm so that nothing was moving on the line until late in the afternoon. Telephone, telegraph and electric wires escaped injury.

Clark Cleveland, of Spring Grove, Green county, was in the village on Saturday, visiting with his father, J. M. Cleveland.

There was a general vaccination of the school children on Saturday afternoon, in accordance with the suggestion of the State Board of Health. Mr. Carr, superintendent of the Borden Condensing Co., of Monroe, was in town on Friday and Saturday on business connected with the local plant.

The Milk Producers' held an impromptu meeting and voted to hold their milk rather than to dispose of it at the price recently established at the Chicago meeting. What will be the outcome remains to be seen.

The school board decided to allow the teachers of the graded school to teach on Saturday and in that way to make up for time lost by the enforced vaccination.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, Feb. 9th.—Misses Charlotte Lyons and Betty Stander were in Janesville over night on Friday, and visited with Miss Florence Skidner at the hospital.

Miss Louise Marty went to Rockford, Friday, where she visited her son.

Mrs. W. B. Henry and daughter, Dorothy, were passengers to Beloit, Friday, for an over Sunday visit with her mother.

Mrs. Robbie Douglas went to Chicago, Friday, to visit friends for a few days.

C. O. Lawton, of Madison, was the guest of friends here, Friday.

G. W. Roderick and Miss Roderick returned Friday, from Monroe, where they were the guests of relatives.

Mrs. R. B. Gifford of Monroe, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Roderick.

A force of men is engaged in shoveling out the New Glarus railway track, all trains being unable to run since the heavy fall of rain and sleet, on Friday evening.

Mrs. Harry Roderick and little son Harry, were in Janesville on Friday, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Welsch on business matters.

Mrs. W. Welsch is gradually improving.

FACTS AND FICTION.

Friends of the commission form of government must rally to the support of its benefits and combat the fiction that is being spread about by the opposition with cold facts. Facts that stand out without dispute and show the great benefits derived from the government by commission for a city the size of Janesville. Facts which eliminate political lines and give the best man, regardless of politics or religion, an opportunity to be rewarded by the confidence of his fellow men.

No more "star chambered sessions." No more the wily alderman to "mercifully suggest" that this thing be done or that thing be left undone. That eyes be blinded to this little infringement of the law or that the right arm of the police be invoked to quell the unruly citizen who demands his rights. These all passed the twenty-third day of January, six years ago, when Janesville clipped the wings of the politicians and took away their power by adopting the commission form of government.

Of course there is opposition to many acts of the present commission. No one, however perfect, can fill a public position without criticism. This thing has been done, that thing has been left undone, are complaints always heard. But of municipal, county, state or national officials. There are always men who feel qualified to tell just how everything should be done to the detriment of the city. The question at issue is whether we wish to retain the benefits derived from the commission form of government or undo the work of the past six years, for the sake of adding the personal revenge of a few individuals? This is what is to be voted upon at the special election. This question and nothing more.

The question of who is to be the next mayor of Janesville is to be decided at the primary in March, and later at the regular election in April. If the opposition is directed against the mayor and it is desired to defeat him for re-election, why make a sacrifice of what has been done when the same results might be obtained by bringing out a strong candidate against him at the special election. If the opposition is directed against either two of the other councilmen why not start recall papers and select new ones unless they are re-elected by the majority.

This nation is a republic and our pride has been from the days of the old town meetings of New England, days when we were a democracy. The majority rules. The fact is demonstrated by the re-election of President Wilson and the north with many times the population of the south. Dividing the lines by the old Mason and Dixon survey, are in the saddle. The majority rules.

Six years ago the majority ruled that we should adopt the commission form of government. Now is the time when the question of the present government system is to be decided. The leaders of this movement, that is the leaders thrust forth into the limelight, are all of them men with personal grievances. The ostensible head is a man who a year ago sought to be named as city attorney under the commission form of government. Former alderman and men whose personal friendship with the "powers that were," could simply "suggest" and it was accomplished, are tireless workers.

The Gazette believes in majority rule. It has no grievance against any individual signer of the petition calling for this election or for any of the men who did not sign, but are now doing their utmost to bring about the defeat of the present governmental system. It holds no retainer for any city officer—from the mayor down—but it does maintain that if the grievance is against individuals, and apparently it is, it is unwise to change the entire system to satisfy personal revenge, and points out that the law has offered many other courses that may be followed to reach the end desired.

The columns of the Gazette are open to communications of this question. The fact they are subject to editorial criticism should not prevent any individual from sending in a signed statement. The fact they must be signed should not prevent open discussion on a question that is vital to us all. These are precautions taken by every newspaper for protection under the laws of the United States and these must be complied with. Fictitious statements, even though signed, will not be published, and unsigned communications will be given scant consideration. Meanwhile write your views on the question and send or bring them in. Pro and con—for or against—what is wanted is an open discussion.

NEWS.

The question of what is news these days is questionable. Many a soldier's letter contains material that the federal government at Washington has ordered the newspapers not to publish. Movement of troops and ships, possible sailings and transportation of units from one camp to another, details of officers for this purpose or that and other matters of like nature relative to army and navy activities. They have even gone so far as to state that no enlisted man may act as a correspondent for any newspaper or journal. The reason for this is not hard to guess. The ordinary individual enlisted man has but a limited scope of any cantonment or camp or fort he may be stationed at. The majority of the "gossip" he writes home as actual facts are usually distorted by repetition from mouth to mouth. Recently a letter was received from a recruit, not yet fully a soldier of but a few weeks' enlistment, in which he described conditions in one training camp that may or may not have been absolutely correct. It would have worked a hardship upon the young man writing the letter, if published, and its publication was withdrawn by the parent of the soldier who has gone forth to fight. This is an example. Another might be sighted of a youth who told of "a winter spent in California, summer in the Alps and then home" as the program, or the youth who wrote his father to have fishing tackle ready as his command was going to start on a summer hike through the lake country when the fishing season began. Letters from foreign stations are all carefully censored before arriving and contain much interesting and instructive material. The Gazette is glad to receive them and publish them. They contain much material that is instructive and of material interest. In fact every letter from the various camps in this country are supposed to be censored, but evidently many slip by and rumors and bits of gossip are given as facts. The government has failed to place an embargo on news published, but it has printed a set of rules for the guidance of every loyal newspaper publisher to follow, and they are doing it. This is just a word of explanation.

Congress is still anxious to discuss many matters before it accepts the bill that would make the president of the United States the absolute controller of the war destinies of this country. The administration may have thought they would sidetrack that special bill for the council by this new move, but the members of congress are doing a lot of thinking for themselves these days. So are the people, and election time is near.

It is safe to say that the Thirty-second division will do their share when the time comes, now that it has once been blotted all before they had a chance to hit back. It is a strange world and a long time that has been turning and some of those relatives and friends of the U-boat that sank the Tuscania will have cause to remember the friends of those who lost their lives when the boys from Waco get into action.

Now is the time for prayers and supplications. Let every person who is a believer in the Supreme Being pray for the safe arrival of our soldier boys from Janesville, from Rock county, from Wisconsin, from the United States, on the foreign shore where they are to fight to the hidden secret foe that sank the Tuscania without warning.

The drive is on for the fund for the local Red Cross societies to buy needed material for the work that is ever increasing. Two thousand dollars a month must be raised, twenty-four thousand for the year. Are you adding in the labor and doing your share, you business man, while the women do the actual work?

It is too bad we have a local election contest on now which energizes the war. However, now we have it let's settle it on the basis of the majority wins, and once and for all and go on until the end of the war without further petty bickerings.

Well, our streets cars and interurban have made a wonderful demonstration these past few weeks, and in the connection what about the railroads and the great automobile system? It would appear that old Dame Nature was laughing up her sleeve all the while.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

—ROY K. MOULTON—

CONSOLATION.

When the world seems dark and gloomy
And you're feelin' mighty blue
And you think that old dame Fortune
Has turned her back on you,
It will be a lot of comfort,
Though the pessimist may scoff
To consider some poor fellow
Who's a hundred times worse off.
Count the coal that's in your basement.

If you've got half a peck
You are much better off than
Some poor shivering coalless wreck.
If you're poor, but have a bushel
Or even, say, a dozen chunks,
You have got it on the rich guy
Who has none, with all his plunks.

"Did he call you a liar in so many words?" demanded the lawyer.
"Not exactly," said the client, "but he said I reminded him of a war exp."

"Quite sufficient," said the lawyer, "You are entitled to heavy damages."

If it takes six shovels of coal to keep a fire going in the druggists store furnace all day.
Then, if the merchant lets his fire go out on Monday.

And it takes twelve shovels of coal to start the new fire on Tuesday morning (as it does), who wins, we or the knifer?

Mathematics, boys, mathematics.

The world do move. Our blessings brighten as they take flight. What a cinch it used to be to have nothing to worry about but the Mexicans.

AND SHE WAS RIGHT.
A modern mush with striped clothes a pinch-back coat, a white oak cane, saddle colored shoes, purple spats, hair combed straight back a la cadon, addressed his young lady friend thus: "If you were me, what would you do?"

"If I were you," she replied. "If I were you, I would tie the tinware to that musical comedy costume, put that cigarette in the stove, part my hair on the side like a human being and then I would go and pray for brains."

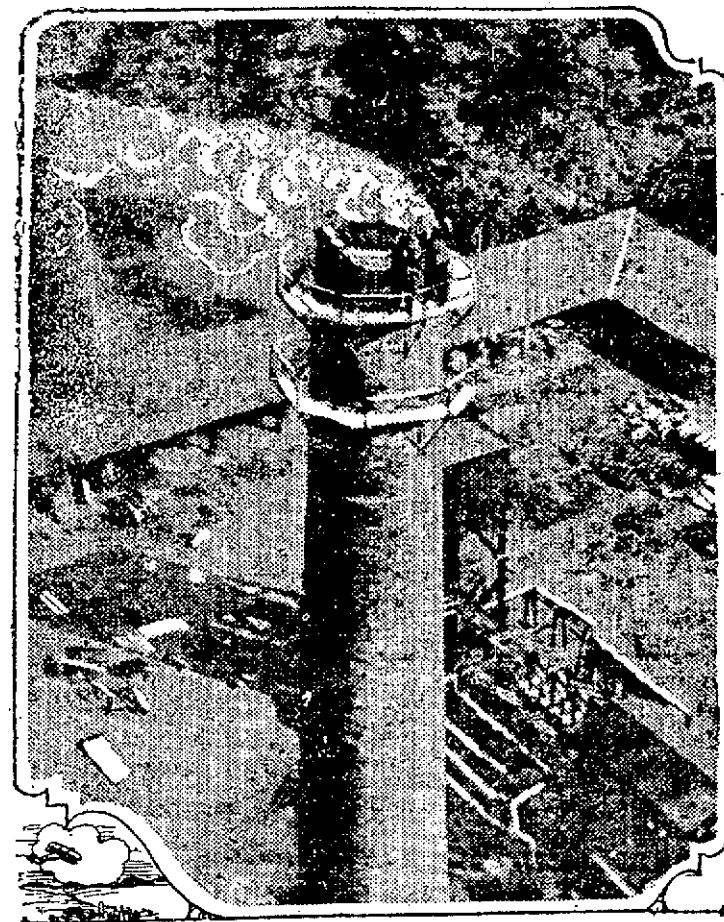

During the rush for laborers to unload coal at the yards a foreman approached a hobo, who was standing on a corner with his hands in his pockets.

"Do you want work?" asked the foreman.
"What kind of work?" asked the bum.

"Can you do anything with a shovel?"
"Yes," replied the idle one, "I can fry a slice of bacon on it."

Quite Likely.
Probably the reason more city men don't go back to the farms is that they can't accumulate fortunes big enough.—Cleveland Leader.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

IF HE SHOULD MEET A MOTHER THERE.
If he should meet a mother there
Aloft on some winding Flanders road
No extra touch of grief or care
He'll add unto her heavy load.
But he will kindly take her arm
And tender as her son would be He'll lead her from the path of harm
Because of me.

Be she the mother of his foe
As though she speak to her in hate;
My boy will never stoop so low
As motherhood to desecrate.
But she will know what once I knew:
Ayes that are glorious to the eye
The light of manhood shining through
Because of me.

He will salute her as they meet
And stand before her bare of head;
If she be hungry she may eat
His last remaining bit of bread.
She'll find those splendid arms and strong,
Quick to assist her, tenderly,
And they will guard her from a wrong
Because of me.

I miss his thoughtful, loving care,
I miss his smile these dreary days,
But should he meet a mother there
Helpless and lost in war's grim maze
She need not fear to take his arm,
As though she'd reared him at her knees.
My son will shield her from all harm
Because of me.

Keep Smiling.
Best advice of all is contained in the last words of the chorus of a popular song: "Smile—smile—smile!"
However, you must smile from the heart, not merely twitching facial muscles mechanically, but flashing a message of friendliness and joy from the heart.—Burlington Hawkeye.

ENGLISH VETERAN ASKS MORE MEN

Lord Dunmore.

Lord Dunmore, veteran of four wars, over here from England to help recruiting, pleads for more men as the biggest help the United States can give the allies. He doesn't lose sight of the importance of food, munitions, supplies, etc., but after granting the need for all these he still pleads: "More men!"

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Feb. 11.—The splendid work done by the agricultural department of the local high school showed its results in the victory secured by the stock judging team which won the state championship at Madison last Saturday. Russell Schoenfeld, Kitchell Sayre and Lowell Slagg brought to the Edgerton high school a beautiful cup won in competition with 76 other boys representing twenty-five schools, each one of which had one a contest in its own section. No championship would be more significant of real merit.

Chief of Police Springer is laid up with a bad sprained shoulder as a result of a fracas at the depot Saturday night. A rough house was started while the crowd from the surrounding towns were waiting for the delayed 7:40 train. Three of the offenders were locked up and appeared in court this morning. Mike Devine of La Crosse who is at work at Stoughton paid $12 and costs amounting to $15.75. Oscar Rosenwald of Stoughton paid $10.00 and costs amounting to $13.50 and George Lund, a blacksmith from Stoughton drew $10.00 and costs amounting to $13.75. The police got a part of another offender, he leaving his hat, overcoat and one sleeve of his underwear. He got the worst of the hand with his face and was taken to a local druggist and got patched up and borrowed a coat and hat, to return home with.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Hurd mourn the loss of an infant son and they have the sympathy of the community. O. A. Mitchell, who recently enlisted in the Canadian army is in the city on a furlough and is spending a few days with his family. Dr. McChesney returned Saturday evening for Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Britton of Stoughton spent Sunday at the home of Edgerton relatives and friends. A fire alarm was turned in this morning from the home of August Geake. A chimney fire was the cause of the alarm and no damage was done. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Midtbo were Stoughton visitors Sunday.

Adolph Jensen was a week end visitor with Chicago friends. Miss Rose Morrison was a Milwaukee passenger yesterday afternoon. Miss Janet Hanson was a week end visitor at Rockford.

Miss Mary Watson of Stoughton, called at the home of Edgerton relatives yesterday.

From now on the Gazette will be on sale at the F. E. Ash book store and people requiring a paper can secure one there.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Feb. 11.—James Gentile is home from Waco, having been given his release from the army on account of lung trouble. He joined the light artillery company that went from Lake Geneva.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor Gazette:
A few years ago a number of business men in this city subscribed and paid in several thousand dollars toward the purchase of the Rink building on South River street, now known as the auditorium. The patriotic citizens who paid in the several thousand dollars did so to keep the rink building for civic purposes, such as large public gatherings and various industrial exhibits. And with no thought or expectation of receiving any financial return. Now the property is to be sold at auction very soon because there are no funds with which to make repairs or pay the upkeep and no way to secure any income from it. My reason for addressing this letter to you is to urge before the citizens the fact that it would be a pity to let this large building for the city. I think most of the stockholders would be willing to donate their investment if the city for instance could take over the building for municipal purposes. I would like to see some discussion on the subject. An investor.

OBITUARY

Mrs. F. R. Midgley, aged 83, for 43 years a resident of Harmony died at home of James Davis early Sunday morning.
Three sisters, Mrs. A. J. Douglas, of Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. A. J. Stevenson, of Rockford, Minn., Mrs. C. F. Call of Rockford, Ill., and one brother, Dr. O. S. Barnum of Petersburg, Va., remain of her large family. Ten nieces and two nephews also survive.
The funeral will be held from the home at 2:00 p. m. on Tuesday, and interment will be at Milton.

Golden Anniversary: Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bier, prosperous farmers east of the city celebrated their golden wedding anniversary today. A ceremony was held at St. Mary's church this morning after which a dinner was served at their home. A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance.

WILL DEMAND PRICE OF $3.22 FOR MILK

ROCK COUNTY MILK PRODUCERS WILL STAND FIRM ON PRICE QUESTION—MEETING HELD SATURDAY

SOME FAVOR A STRIKE

Feeling Ran High During Gathering as to What Course to Pursue in Enforcing Their Demands.

With the determination that no milk would be delivered to Janesville at less than the government price of $3.22 and that altho it is needed will be delivered at this price, the members of the Rock County Milk Producers' association met Saturday afternoon at the Odd Fellows' hall, where they had been called to talk over the milk situation and the passive strike which the milk producers have inaugurated during the past week. The individual milk producers also affirmed the statement that they would "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

The local milk producers are of the opinion that the milk strike is only a matter between themselves and those who are receiving more for distribution than the milk than the farmer receives for producing it, and that local distributors are satisfied with the price of $3.22 which practically all farmers agreed to abide by.

During the meeting the strike feeling ran high and many drastic actions were proposed, several of them especially by one of the more energetic members, but no action was taken by the other members of the association who affirmed that they should remain firm in their demand for a just price but be construed as "outside of the law." No action or approval was given to any of the "belligerent" suggestions, and it was decided that this passive strike is a private prejudice against local milk distributors.

All the producers agreed that no milk should be wasted and with this in view several producers told of their ways in using all of the milk which they produce. Most of the farmers are making butter and feed for their stock, which they use for any other live stock which they have on the farm. Many of the producers are bringing their milk to the local distributors who have agreed to pay the compromise price of $3.22 per hundred pounds.

Mr. Huginn told the producers that various ways which he had used all of his milk. W. H. Hughes volunteered to run his 500-pound cream separator for the benefit of those who have no separators. This action was greeted with applause, as it is known that quite a number of the farmers have no separators.

The matter of using the milk to some Chicago concern regardless of the strike was brought up and the suggestion was made that members of the association would be asked to send in those names and in the coming spring and fall refuse any cooperation with them, lest they can operate machinery or help them when they run short of hired help in the rush season.

Fred Marsh, manager of the local Ice and Chapel plant, affirmed the statement of the producers that his company was receiving very little milk from the territory surrounding Janesville. The Ice and Chapel branch, under ordinary circumstances, ships more than fifty thousand pounds of milk to Chicago every day.

Striking milk distributors in Chicago territory were approached Saturday by various distributing companies with a compromise offer intended to increase the milk flow into the city. But most of the producers refused to consider any price under the compromise price of $3.22 per hundred pounds. One of the distributors offered to pay the farmers for February whatever price is finally determined by the Food Administration. A few accepted, but the majority refused. The same matter was brought up Saturday at the meeting of the local milk producers, but they unanimously decided to get $3.22 or dispose of their milk in some other way.

Some of the large distributors getting milk from long distances are paying as high as 10 cents a quart including freight. The Borden company is receiving milk from New York, and it is known that some of the milk dealers in Chicago are getting milk from as far west as Omaha and Mr. Hemmingsway remarked that this milk after the freight is included, would cost some what around $5.00 per hundred pounds.

Mr. Hemmingsway, who was chosen as a delegate to the convention at Chicago, was also present. He remarked during his report that the milk producers' associations have spent $16,000 since their inception and that there is a $4,000 deficit. During the meeting several new members were signed up for the new membership drive which the Rock County Milk Producers' association has inaugurated for three hundred members.

CLOSING OF BELLOIT SALOONS HITS JAIL

Only One Man Has Been Brought Up From That City on Drunkenness Charges This Week—Closing Is Responsible.

The voluntary closing for three days last week of Beloit saloons has affected the county jail to no small degree. Where the Gateway City is usually well represented at the bastille, last week only one man brought up on drunkenness charges. Last week, George Orr, an alleged habitual drunkard, was brought up Thursday and was taken back to Beloit this afternoon to face the charge of second offense intoxication. He is under $250 bail.

The normal Beloit representation at the jail is five per week so Sheriff Whipple could not help but notice the decrease in this week which he attributed to the voluntary closing of the saloons.

Col. E. Johnson Preston, for Twenty-two Months With French Army, Give Talk to Local Business Men.

Declaring that the war will not end until the very bone of Germany is scraped, Col. E. Johnson Preston addressed forty business men at a luncheon at the Myers hotel this noon and gave a stirring account of the war. Col. Preston for twenty-two months was connected with the hospital supplies department of the French army and saw a great deal of strenuous service. He was finally forced to retire from service after being wounded by a shell which burst within a few feet of him. Two officers standing behind him were killed and one standing next to him had his leg blown off. He himself lost his sight, but recovered it a few months later. His hair turned white, due to the explosion.

He told of the unpreparedness of England and France at the beginning of the war and compared it to their fighting forces at present. When war was declared England had only 110,000 soldiers while now they have five million men under arms, three million of them being in France.

He also made an appeal for financial support of convalescent officers' hospital to be constructed in France wherever Gen. Pershing may designate. He asked that local people agree to furnish a bed for one year, the amount needed for this being $600.

Col. Preston showed his hate of Germany when he told of their atrocities, of the inoculation of little children with regular germs and other ghastly crimes. He was most emphatic in his statement that this war will not end until Kaiserism is crushed.

SELL MANY SMILEAGE BOOKS IN BIG DRIVE

Figures Seemed to Indicate That "Sweetheart Day" for Smilge Books Was a Success.

According to indications at noon today, "Sweetheart Day" in the smileage book drive was a success. Although no figures as to the number of books disposed of could be obtained, the public board of the Y. M. C. A. of this city reported the sales to be progressing and predicted that final figures would be high.

Although the collectors centered their efforts on those girls with sweethearts in the army camps, they also asked others to buy and were rewarded by purchases in most cases. The idea of making Saturday "Sweetheart Day" originated with the committee in charge of the sale of the smileage books and it was urged on the purchasers that they send them valentines to their friends in the khaki.

MATRIMONIAL
Wright-Daley, formerly of Duluth, was united in marriage Saturday at Rockford to John Daley. Rev. Father Finn of St. James Catholic officiated at the stores and formal city but is now a member of Company "C" down at Camp Grant. Their many friends wished them best wishes for the future.

Proof of World's Great Age.
When we come to prehistoric man, Assyria is yesterday. Discoveries made of skulls in various parts of Europe show that a low class of primitive man lived upon earth at least 250,000 years ago, and for 25,000 years a high type of man inhabited what is now central France.

ANNOUNCE PLANS OF COUNTY FUND DRIVE

COMMITTEE HAS FORMULATED NEW SYSTEM TO SECURE FUNDS IN COUNTY TO BE USED FOR WAR PURPOSES.

EQUAL BASIS FOR ALL

Assessments Will Be Made According to Income and Assessed Valuation of Property Owned.

After several weeks of intense planning in which patriotic spirited men from all sections of Rock county gave their time to the consideration of the ways and means of raising a substantial general fund among the people to care for the many demands which are made, due to the urgency of the war and the need of raising numerous individual drives, the details have been completed and the campaign itself is ready to be launched under a definite and fair plan.

The formation of the plan to raise a large fund, once during the year, rather than to follow the custom adopted at the beginning of the war of making a drive for each individual demand, was necessary to carry on the work scientifically and to bring a saving in time and energy expended which were lost in the many drives. The committee in charge has adopted the slogan "Your Share is Fair" and they have built all their plans on the basis of equality. A campaign in which all will be asked to contribute according to their means and from the statements of the leaders it will mean a saving for all done.

It is the plan to have this great fund meet all war demands for money except Liberty Bonds. The money which is secured will be apportioned by the president and the members of the war board who will have direct charge of the expenditures.

During the drive thus far made for the different funds men from all walks of life have contributed favorably in spite of their financial difficulties. There has been some inequality in the plan, but the money was collected in a "hit or miss" fashion with no definite idea of taxing the public according to their means and thus placing the burden on the shoulders of those that could bear it best. Under the plan fostered at the present time the tax will be levied according to the income of the individual and the payments will be made but once a year. It will mean that when the tax is made on the man or woman in the county, they will be sure that they are doing their bit according to their means and proving their patriotic spirit on an equal basis.

The plan as advocated in this county might be called a combination plan as it involves all the best features of the various systems which are now in vogue in the various sections of the country. The committee before they had gone into the proposition very far realized that they were confronted with a problem of considerable extent and care in management. With these ideas in sight the best available resources were drawn upon and combined with the original ideas which the committee has and now the finished product is ready to be submitted to the people.

Here is the plan in brief: Every person with an income as high as $500 will be expected to contribute approximately $1.00 annually and the assessments will be greater as the income increases. For example, while an income of $1000 will call for a $2.00 contribution, an income of $2,000 will call for $5.00 and an income of $5,000 will call for $12.50. The plan will call for $25,000; $50,000 will call for $75,000; $100,000 will call for $150,000 and on.

The assessed valuation of the property owned by each person in Rock county, together with their incomes, is already in the hands of the Rock County Council of Defense War Funds Committee. Thus the committee is advised in advance of the amount that should justly be assessed against every individual in the county.

To bring the facts home to every citizen has required the scientific organization of scores of the leading business men of the county. There will be a chairman in each ward and assistants from lieutenants down to a man for each block. For the same reason there will be a secretary in each block and the territory will be divided and subdivided. This is but the beginning.

There are also a publicity committee, factory committees, a pep committee, and a four-minute men who will stir latent patriotism at public gatherings in all portions of the county. When the huge task of the hundreds of men and women who will actively pull off their coats to make a success of this War Fund campaign is finished they will have a pledge from every patriotic citizen in the county on the basis of "your share is fair." They will also have a record of those who refuse to "come through" and if there are these latter they will be called before the fifteen and asked to explain. It is assumed that but few people will undergo a situation so embarrassing.

The fifteen members of the executive committee who have laid their business interests aside for weeks past and for the duration of the campaign are as follows: C. J. Pearson, vice chairman, Evansville; R. E. Wisner, treasurer, Janesville; H. E. Bailey, secretary, Beloit; J. R. Conway, Edgerton; Andrew McIntosh, Edgerton. A. M. Richmond, Evansville; J. Green, Clinton; E. L. Bingham, Milton; Samuel Onsgard, Oronoco; Mr. Lathers, Purit, W. V. Seymour, Beloit; Geo. S. Wolcott, Beloit; M. O. Mount, Janesville; H. C. Hemmingsway, Janesville.

NOTICE
To the parents of the scholars of the public and parochial schools who were vaccinated last week by order of the public board of health, notice is given that they visit the office of the visiting nurse at the city hall between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock the afternoon in order that the vaccinations may receive inspection, and if necessary such attention as the visiting nurse may require.

MORRIS MILLER

Al Mamau is up on his ear again. Al is so used to having a kick coming on something or other that he finds it hard to get out of the habit. Now he says he won't go to work for the Robins till he is promised a fat wage, and at least as much as he got while with the Pirates. It seems that there is a difference of $200. Al is going to get that $200 or I won't sign, that's all," says Al. Mamau was a clothing salesman till he made his hit with the Pirates and in 1917 his salary was $6,000.00. The season following Dreyfus cut it down to $2,400 and now the Robins are offering him $3,200. Al declares that he expects to pitch as good ball this coming season as he did the year he took down $6,000 and he wants something like the right price for it.

Fred Snodgrass, the former Giant who played last season with the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League, has announced his permanent retirement from baseball.

Nap Lajoie is now being mentioned as likely to succeed Jack Hendricks at Indianapolis. This is about the sixth place that has been connected with Lajoie this winter.

The deal between the Robins and Pirates will stand, regardless of what may happen in the draft. Neither side has a chance on losing Stengel, and Brooklyn does the same in regard to Mamau.

Johnny Tobin, who amassed a .333 batting average in the Pacific Coast league last season, has signed his contract with the Browns for the coming season. Tobin expects to win a regular place in the outfield.

According to figures recently compiled, Pennsylvania leads among the states in the production of professional day major league ball players. Twenty-eight big leaguers were born in the Keystone state. Illinois and Ohio are tied for second place, each with eighteen. New York boasts of fifteen, California of thirteen and Mississippi of twelve. Practically the entire dozen having been born in St. Louis, Indiana has sent up nine. Georgia eight, Massachusetts eight and Michigan seven. And Iowa, each bank on six major leaguers, with Virginia, Wisconsin, Maryland, Nebraska and Tennessee each pointing with pride to five. Alabama, Kentucky, West Virginia and North Carolina have four each, with Colorado, Kansas and New Jersey each stopping three. Those satisfied with a pair are Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. The states with just a single player listed in the book are Washington, Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, New Hampshire, Oregon, Oklahoma, Rhode Island and South Dakota.

Several noted ball players already have been placed in Class One of the next selected draft for the army. Grover Cleveland Alexander and Potter Kilgore of the Cubs are among them. Benny Kauff of the Giants is included, also George Whitted of the Phillies, Ed Klepper and Joe Evans of the Cardinals, George Burns, Ellison and Ty Cobb of the Tigers, Severin of the Browns and others. The White Sox may lose Eddie Collins in the coming draft, in which event Manager Rowland says that Candell, Risberg and McMillin will cover the bases, with Weaver at shortstop.

The Braves have sent out contracts to twenty-one members of the team. It is expected that the papers will begin to return soon with the signatures of the men asked.

Claude Williams, one of the White Sox southpaws, has sent his signed contract to the club's headquarters.

Jack Hendricks of the Cards, is looking for a second baseman.

YALE MAN COMPARES FIGHT WITH U-BOAT TO FOOTBALL MATCH

East Haven, Conn., Feb. 11.—How the conveyer in which he traveled to the European war zone with the Yale unit accounted for several German "subs" is graphically described by a letter to relatives by Laurence Lyman of this place.

"One night as we were below firing our bunks," he says, "we heard the whistle and then the sharp note of the bugle. We shouted, 'The subs at last,' and leaped to our posts. I had been appointed a stroke oar in a lifeboat and our particular gang, twenty-six in number, were counted by our white-faced lieutenant.

"Our ship began to zig-zag, and through a port I saw a destroyer rushing along toward a white streak in the water. Suddenly something happened aboard the destroyer—a volume of water rushed in the air directly in its wake. There was a heavy explosion and one more sub had gone to the happy hunting ground.

"The next morning, our bugle again blew 'to post' and our guns on the port side out loose. In less than a time our whole fleet transports and all were blazing away, zig-zagging and rushing in all directions. We had plugged a whole school of subs, and instead of zig-zagging our boat ploughed right into the enemy.

"At one time the ship next to us and our boat were shooting into the same center and it looked like a battle between the two ships. I saw three periscopes myself and one cut its way so close that our forward gun could not be brought to bear.

"One torpedo missed our bows by less than thirty feet. At the same time we could see land ahead.

"While this was going on three aeroplanes appeared. How we shouted when we recognized their nationality. Soon they were swooping down like hawks, dropping bombs and marking out the place where the Boches lay.

"It was simply great. I felt just as I did before the touchdown against Harvard last year. At one time four big guns on our boat were playing away at the same time.

"Finally at 10 o'clock the whistle blew, and our first big fight was over. Nobody scratched and from three to five Boches sent to hell. There were from nine to twelve of them waiting, and believe me, they got all they wanted.

"If we'd only had a band the morning would have been complete."

EPISCOPALIAN SCALE IS TAKEN BY METHODIST BOWLING "DADS" IN EXCITING GAME

In an exciting game at the Y. M. C. A. alleys last night the Methodist bowlers took the scalp of the Episcopalian rollers. Practically all of the bowlers rolled consistently low and only once, in the second inning, was any exceptional rolling exhibited and that by Kohler who rolled up 196. Kohler was the star bowler of the evening. The scores are:

Largest, Finest Equipped and Most Sanitary Food Plant of Its Kind in the World.

FROM OUR NEW OLEOMARGARINE FACTORY

Our new oleomargarine plant, just completed, sets a fresh mark in the manufacture of this pure food product. Armour's Oleomargarine is made in a tile-lined building where even the air is washed and changed every eight minutes. Churns are glass-lined and all appliances are of latest improved design for scientific food production. Every process in the manufacture of Veribest and Nut-ola contributes to make each the perfect product in its particular class. Thus, whichever kind of Oleomargarine you buy, if the name Armour is on the package you are sure of the best.

Armour's New Brands of Oleomargarine

(The Vegetable Margarine)

IN THE making of this wholesome food product, skilled operators blend pure Oleo, Neutral and Peanut oils and churn them scientifically in rich, pasteurized milk. This milk is brought from those dairy farms of Wisconsin and Illinois which are under constant inspection by the Chicago Board of Health.

Oleo oil is extracted under pressure from finest pure beef fat. Neutral is prepared from the leaf fat of highest grade pork. Both beef and pork are Government inspected. Our peanut oil is highly refined and of choicest quality. These three oils with milk and salt are the ingredients of Veribest Oleomargarine.

Hence, today with butter so much a matter of Government concern and high in price, Veribest Oleomargarine, rich in flavor, palatable, supplying the fats necessary for growth and health, becomes a matter of common sense, as well as economy and patriotism.

Your Dealer Can Supply You

Be sure to ask for Armour's Veribest Oleomargarine or Armour's Nut-ola. In them you get foods which, at a great saving in cost, supply the necessary fats for table use and cooking. For the use of private families, dealers will supply with each package a capsule of pure vegetable coloring matter with instructions how to use. If your dealer does not have these Armour Products in stock, let us know and we will direct you to the nearest store where they can be obtained.

ARMOUR AND COMPANY

Chicago and Milwaukee

IN Europe, where Oleomargarine was first made and where fifteen to twenty times more is used than in this country, practically the entire output is made from vegetable oils and contains no animal products whatever. We, in this country, have overlooked a great food supply in cocoanut and peanut oils.

But Armour and Company are making Nut-ola. This pure nut product, is composed only of cocoanut oil, peanut oil, selected pasteurized milk, and salt.

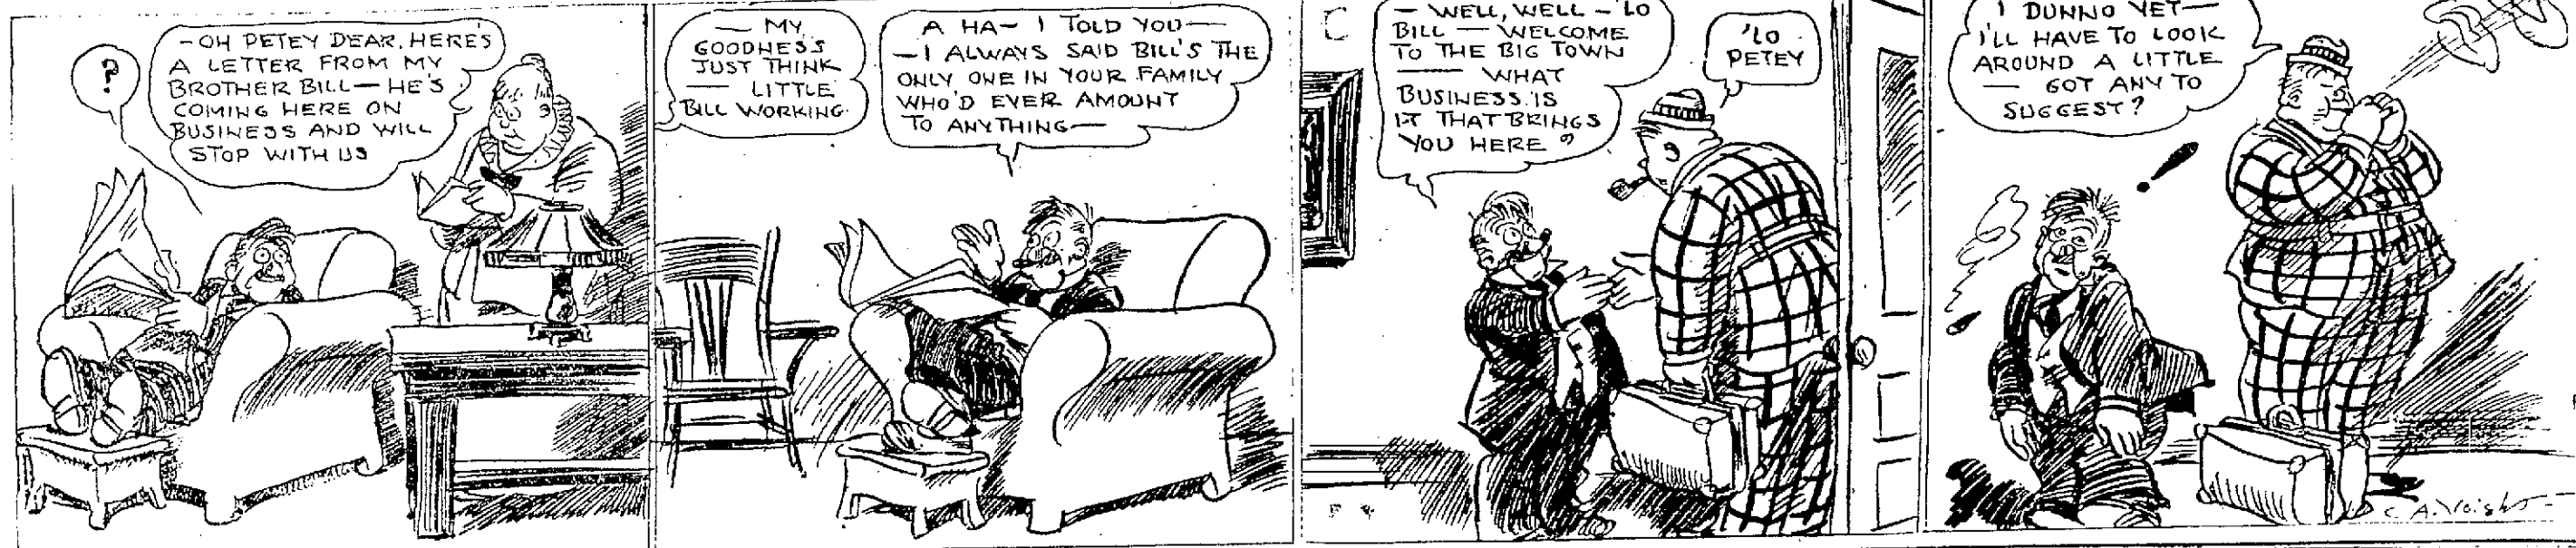

In order to give America the same high quality of Nut Oleomargarine as is used in Europe, we have imported from Holland electrically-operated churns and also engaged from that country the services of an expert in making this product. Under his supervision these highly refined vegetable oils are made into a table product which is absolutely guaranteed in quality and purity by the name of Armour.

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

The man who owned the dog, seeing the child's eyes on him, put him through his tricks. Truly a wonderful dog, that would catch things on its nose and be dead, raising only to a whistle which its owner called Gabriel's trumpet.

Prince Ferdinand William Otto, growing excited, leaned quite out of the window. "What is your dog's name?" he inquired, in his clear treble. "The man took off his hat and bowed. 'Toto, highness. He is of French origin.'

"He is a very nice dog. I have always wanted a dog like that. He must be a great friend."

"A great friend, highness." He would have expatiated on the dog, but he was uncertain of the etiquette of the procedure. His face beamed with pleasure, however. Then a splendid impulse came to him. This dog, his own companion, he would present to

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain milled cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoons will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do things and must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Doctor Gave This Run-Down Woman Vinol

And She Got Well—Her Nervousness Disappeared

Flint, Mich. "I keep house for my family of six and got into a generally run-down condition. I was weak, nervous and could not sleep, and had headache a good deal of the time. My doctor prescribed Vinol and it made me well and strong. I am a good deal less nervous and can sleep nights."

"I would present him to you," he said nervously. "Since the dog pleases you, I—I would present him to you."

"To me?" The crown prince's voice was full of incredulous joy.

"Yes, highness. If such a thing be permissible."

"Are you sure you don't mind?"

"It is the best I have, highness. I wish to offer my best."

Prince Ferdinand William Otto almost choked with excitement. "I have always wanted one," he cried. "If you are certain you can spare him, I'll be very good to him. No one," he said, "ever gave me a dog before. I'd like to have him now, if I may."

The crowd was growing. It pressed closer, pleased at the boy's delight. Truly they were participating in great things. A small cheer and many smiles followed the lifting of the dog through the open window of the carriage. And the dog was surely a dog to be proud of. Already it shook hands with the crown prince.

Perhaps, in that motley gathering, there were some who viewed the scene with hostile eyes, some who saw, not a child glowing with delight over a gift, but one of the hated ruling family, a barrier, an obstacle in the way of freedom. But if such there were, they were few. It was, indeed, as the terrorists feared. The city loved the boy.

Annunciat, followed by an irritated Elida, came out of the shop. Elida's wardrobe had been purchased, and was not to her taste.

"Good heavens," cried the archduchess, and stared into the carriage. "Otto!"

"He is mine," said the crown prince proudly. "He is the cleverest dog. He can do all sorts of things."

"Put him out!"

"But he is mine," protested Ferdinand William Otto. "He is a gift. That gentleman there, in the corduroy jacket."

"Put him out," said the Archduchess Annunciat.

There was nothing else to do. The crown prince did not cry. He was much too proud. He thanked the donor again carefully, and regretted that he could not accept the dog. He said it was a wonderful dog, and just the sort he liked. And the carriage drove away.

He went back to the palace, and finding that the governess still had a headache, settled down to the burnt wood frame. Once he glanced up at the woeless dog on its shelf at the top of the cabinet. "Well, anyhow," he said sturdily, "I still have you."

CHAPTER XI.

As a Man May Love a Woman.

Hedwig came to tea that afternoon. She came in softly, and dejectedly, for she was doing a forbidden thing, but Prince Ferdinand William Otto had put away the frame against such a contingency. He had, as a matter of fact, been putting cold cloths on Miss Braithwaite's forehead.

"I always do it," he informed Hedwig. "I like doing it. It gives me something to do. She likes them rather dry, so the water doesn't run down her neck."

Had Miss Braithwaite not been ill, Hedwig would have talked things over with her then. There was no one else to whom she could go. Elida refused to consider the prospect of marriage as anything but pleasurable, and between her mother and Hedwig there had never been any close relationship.

But Miss Braithwaite lay motionless, her face set in lines of suffering, and after a time Hedwig rose and lifted out of the room.

Prince Ferdinand William Otto was excited. Tea had already come, and on the rare occasions when the governess was ill, it was his privilege to pour the tea.

"Nikky is coming," he said rapidly, "and the three of us will have a party. Please don't tell me how you like your tea, and see if I can remember."

"Very well, dear," Hedwig said gently, and went to the window.

Nikky entered almost immediately. As a matter of fact, although he showed no trace of it, Nikky had been having an extremely bad time since his return; the chance, or, who may or may not have known that his heart was breaking, had given him a very severe scolding on the way back from wedding. It did Nikky good, too, for it roused him to his own defense, and made him forget, for a few minutes anyhow, that life was over for him, and that the chancellor carried his death sentence in his old leather dispatch case.

After that, arriving in the capital, they had driven to the little office in a back street, and there Nikky had roused himself again enough to give a description of Peter Niburg, and to give the location of the house where he lived. But he slumped again after that, ate no dinner, and spent a longish time in the place, staring up at Annunciat's windows, where he had once seen Hedwig on the balcony.

Then, late in the evening, Nikky was summoned to the king's bedroom, and came out pale, with his shoulders very square. He had received a real wigging this time, and even contemplated throwing himself in the river. Only he could swim so damnably well!

But he had the natural elasticity of youth, and a sort of persistent belief in his own luck, rather like the chancellor's confidence in seven as a number—a confidence, by the way, which the countess could easily have shaken. So he had wakened the next morning rather cheerful than otherwise, and over a breakfast of broiled ham had refused to look ahead farther than the day.

That afternoon, in the study, Nikky hesitated when he saw Hedwig. Then he came and bent low over her hand. And Hedwig, because every instinct yearned to touch his shining bent head, spoke to him very calmly, was rather distant, a little cold.

"You have been away, I think," she said.

"For a day or two, highness."

"And today," he added, reproachfully, "today you did not ride."

"I did not feel like riding," Hedwig responded listlessly. "I am tired. I think I am always tired."

"Leman and two lumps," muttered the crown prince. "That's Nikky's, Hedwig. Give it to him, please."

Nikky went a trifle pale as their fingers touched. But he tasted his tea, and pronounced it excellent.

Prince Ferdinand William Otto chattered excitedly. He told of the day, of his cleverness, but passing politely over the manner of its return. Now and then Hedwig glanced at Nikky, when he was not looking, and always, when they dared, the young soldier's eyes were on her.

"She will take some tea without sugar," announced the crown prince. While he poured it, Hedwig was thinking. Was it possible that Nikky, of every one, should have been chosen to carry to Karl the marriage arrangements? What an irony! What a jest! It was true there was a change in him. He looked subdued, almost sad.

"To Karl?" she asked, when Prince Ferdinand William Otto had left the room. "Officially?"

"Not—exactly."

"Where, in Karnia?"

"I ended," Nikky confessed, "at wedding."

Hedwig gazed at him, her elbows propped on the tea table. "Then," she said, "I think you know."

"I know, highness."

"And you have nothing to say?"

"Highness," Nikky began huskily, "you know what I would say. And that I cannot. To take advantage of Otto's fancy for me, a child's liking, to violate the confidence of those who placed me here—I am doing that, every moment."

"What about me?" Hedwig asked. "Do I count for nothing? Does it not matter at all how I feel, whether I am happy or wretched? Isn't that as important as honor?"

Nikky flung out his hands. "You know," he said rapidly. "What can I tell you that you do not know a thousand times? I love you. Not as a subject may adore his princess, but as a man loves a woman."

She drew herself up. "Love!" she said. "I do not call that love."

"It is greater love than you know," said poor Nikky. But all his courage died a moment later, and his resolution with it, for without warning Hedwig dropped her head on her hands and, crouching forlornly, fell to sobbing.

"I counted on you," she said wildly. "And you are like the others. No one cares how wretched I am. I wish I might die."

Then indeed Nikky was lost. In an instant he was on his knees beside her, his arms close about her, his head bowed against her breast. And Hedwig relaxed to his embrace. When at last he turned and looked up at her, it was Hedwig who bent and kissed him.

"At least," she whispered, "we have had this. We can always remember, whatever comes, that we have had this."

But Nikky was of very human stuff, and not the sort that may live by memories. He was very haggard when he rose to his feet—haggard, and his mouth was doggedly set. "I will never give you up, now," he said.

Brave words, of course. But as he said them he realized their futility. The eyes he turned on her were, as he claimed her, without hope. For there was no escape.

Hedwig, with shining eyes, was already planning.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

"We will go away, Nikky," she said.

Sales of the Friendly Forest

Of course you remember in the last story that the automobile ran away with Billy Bunny and good Uncle Lucky after they had taken in Old Uncle Bullfrog because their horn was broken and they wanted him to "Honk! hank!" Well, Old Uncle Bullfrog never honked so much in all his life! But the more he honked the faster went the automobile, and finally it ran right into the circus tent, where the little habbits' elephant friend played on the piano. And of course he stopped playing pinocle at once. He was sitting at a table with three friends, a kangaroo, a black poodle dog and a hippopotamus, for it was in the morning, you know, and the show didn't commence until the afternoon.

Well after the automobile had run over the table and scattered all the cards and made the kangaroo jump and the poodle dog growl and the hippopotamus bark and the elephant blow his pinto, it stopped right in front of the lion's cage. "Wast!" it said. "I didn't bump into the lion, for the lion wasn't afraid of Billy Bunny, you see."

Then Uncle Lucky Lefthandfoot hopped over to the elephant and said how sorry he was that he had caused so much inconvenience and that he hoped they would forgive him, because he really couldn't help it, for the automobile wouldn't stop. "Don't mention it," said the friendly elephant, and then Uncle Lucky sat down and played pinocle with them, while Billy Bunny and Uncle Bullfrog sat on a high bench and watched them, and after a while they all stood up and said, "You win, Uncle Lucky!" Yes, siree, and a whole lot more! Uncle Lucky had won the circus and all the animals and wagons because he was as lucky as his name.

Oh, I'm the king of the circus ring! I own the tickets and take the money And cover the popcorn over with honey.

And Uncle Lucky forgot for a moment he was an old gentleman rabbit and did a hop, skip and jump around the sawdust ring.

"Well, my friends," he said, "I must take my nephew back to the Old Briar Patch, drop Uncle Bullfrog in the Old Mill Pond and wind my watch. After that I'll come back and we'll talk business, for I know lots and lots of little towns where the boys and girls have never seen a circus, and I'm going to take my circus to every one of those small places and save the poor little children a treat. Wasn't that just like dear, kind Uncle Lucky? He didn't care whether he made money or not, all he wanted was to make people happy."

And as soon as Uncle Lucky's circus reaches the next town I'm going to let you know, for of course Billy Bunny will be there to show on the Hornucopia!

New Vapor Way of Treating all Cold Troubles

North Carolina Druggist Invents a Salve That Is Vaporized by the Body Heat

NOTHING TO SWALLOW YOU JUST RUB IT ON

Particularly Valuable to Mothers with Small Children. Local Druggists Are Offering 25c Jars on 30 Days' Trial.

Colds are simply inflammations of the air passages and everybody knows that the only way to reach the air passages direct is by means of vapors that can be inhaled. The old-fashioned vapor treatments, however, were cumbersome and costly, but a North Carolina druggist solved this problem by inventing a salve that is vaporized by the body heat.

This preparation, known as VapoRub, is now being introduced here. The local druggists know the danger of constant "coughing," especially to small children and are anxious that all their customers should try this new "outside" treatment. All arrangements have accordingly been made with the manufacturers to send the small size jars, price 25c, on 30 days' trial—no charge to be made if the customer is not delighted with the results.

For deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, or incipient pneumonia VapoRub should be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors arising carry the medication, with each breath, to the air passages and lungs. In addition VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

For head colds, hay fever, catarrh or asthmatic troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Croup is usually relieved within fifteen minutes and one application at bedtime prevents a night attack.

No matter how old you are or how flat your feet are you're not exempted from eating less and givin' freely. Th' feller that says, "Of course, I may be wrong, but" does not believe that there kin be any such possibility.

Hardly a Drugstore in the Land That Does Not Sell This Remedy

On the Market Half a Century.

When you are in perfect health, and are enjoying a strong and vigorous vitality, it is then that your blood is free from all impurities.

You should be very careful and give heed to the slightest indication of impure blood. A sluggish circulation is often indicated by an impaired appetite, a feeling of lassitude and a general weakening of the system. It is then that you should promptly take a few bottles of S. S. S., the great blood purifier and strengthener. It will cleanse the blood thoroughly and build up and strengthen the whole system. S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Valuable information about the blood supply can be had free by writing to the Swift Specific Co., 24 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

FATE INTERVENES

By JACK LAWTON.

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

Bess raised her magazine and peered covertly over its edges at the handsome masculine face across the aisle. Not that Bess was an impressionable young creature; strange faces rarely interested her, but there was about this one some peculiar magnetic charm which drew her own eyes unwillingly.

Resolutely now she pursued her reading as the miles flew by. A sensation of being observed forced her to look up again. The man was regarding her wonderingly, as though trying to place her among past acquaintances.

"No self-respecting young woman may pick up a traveling companion," she severely reminded herself. The man across the aisle had sighed wearily; his dark eyes seemed to be pleading the question. Bess turned to the car window impatiently. Back there in town some mutual friend had but to mumble in introduction two names and one in duty bound to be pleasant to the one presented.

"Oh, well!" Bess abruptly arose and made her way to the diner. This was really the "last call to the dining car." There was but one unoccupied table. Seating herself, she studied the menu. As she hesitated over its contents the subservient waiter pushed forth the remaining chair.

"Sit down, sir," she heard him saying, and glanced up to find her visitor—a man who had been sitting across the aisle.

"I beg your pardon," he began, as though apology were necessary for his intrusion.

Silently Bess nodded; then, at the man's evident diffidence, she flashed a smile.

"You have a perfect right to the only vacant chair," she said. After that silence seemed a foolish formality. The man was a journalist, she learned, and his conversation proved to be as interesting as his appearance had promised. After the meal, it seemed but a natural sequence that he should transfer his suitcase to Bess's side of the car and continue the conversation there.

The hours now flew by as quickly as the miles. Bess dimpled and smiled, glancing up into the man's attentive eyes, and wondered again at that sense of familiar companionship.

"It is strange," he said, promptly answering her thought, "yet I could not have forgotten had I met you before."

She flushed at his implied meaning. "We must meet again," he added, impulsively.

Bess did not answer. He was leaving the car at Buffalo, so he told her, and arose as though reluctant, drawing on his greatcoat. Her own destination, a few miles farther on, had not been mentioned.

As the car slowed into the station she realized, half-angrily, that she was loth to let the stranger go, saddened at the thought of losing forever, in the rush of life outside, this man whom yesterday she had not seen.

"I cannot go," he said tensely, "without hope of seeing you again. Your name, at least, you will tell me that, and some time—"

But Bess was resolute. Tomorrow, perhaps, he would laugh at the incident. Tomorrow she would forget all about it.

"Good-by," she said, smiling. "This is the end of a short but pleasant acquaintance."

The car was emptying. The man reached desperately for his valise. "It cannot be the end," he answered firmly. "Fate will intervene."

Would it? Bess was very doubtful, as she caught a last glimpse of his broad-shouldered figure before the train whisked her on in the darkness. And if fate refused to be obdurate.

would she forget the last few hours as easily as she had prophesied?

Long she sat before the fire in her room that night. From the flames a man's dark eyes seemed to be reproaching her, and the vision would not be banished. Where was he now? And would he try to find her? But the hope was not to be entertained. This was a prosaic world, where people went sensibly about their duties. Day after day she would go back and forth teaching in the schoolhouse on the hill, and nothing beautiful or unusual would ever happen. Then suddenly Bess sat up listening. Some one was calling; she was wanted—"Long-distance on the phone."

"How do you do?" came a deep, well-remembered voice. "This is your traveling companion of an hour or two ago. Fate has intervened. I opened—as I supposed—my suitcase, a few moments ago and found a pink silk kimono, I think you call it, and a letter. The letter being addressed to Miss Bessie Roberts I have lost no time in calling up that young lady to identify what I believe to be her property. The two suitcases must have been identical, so mine was a pardonable mistake. If you will open the one in your possession you will find certain written articles belonging to Richard Clayton—myself at your service. As said articles are rather valuable I will, with your permission, come out to make an exchange of satchels tomorrow evening. You will be home at that time?"

Bess laughed softly as she caught the eagerness of the question. "Tomorrow evening," she agreed, and the joy of her voice sang over the wire.

BRITISH SINK FOE SHIP IN FIGHT FOR GERMANY'S LAST COLONY

German vessel sunk by British gunfire in the harbor of Dar-es-salaam.

The sinking of an enemy ship in the harbor of Dar-es-salaam in German East Africa is another British victory in the fighting for the possession of the Kaiser's last colony. Splendid work has been done by the British and Belgians assisted by native troops in the fighting in German East Africa, which is now clear of German troops. The British and their allies have been forced to contend with almost insurmountable difficulties of climate and transport.
